Alumni House to add Great Room

Groundbreaking for the addition to the Howard F. Fenstemaker Alumni House is tentatively scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, May 6, 2001.

Low bids for the project, opened on February 9, totalled $395,966. They included $247,800 for general construction; $46,750 for heating, ventilation and air conditioning; $33,997 for plumbing; and $67,419 for electric.

The first round of bids, opened in late June 2000, exceeded the budget for the addition.

The project will add 2,675 square feet, with nearly half that space devoted to the Curtis R. English Great Room. Curtis R. English '56 was an active alumnus and served as interim president of the university from 1993 to 1994. He died on November 13, 1999, while serving as president of Hiwassee College in Madisonville, TN.

"This exciting project would not be possible without the generous support of the Bloomsburg University Foundation," said Nancy Edwards '70, president of the Alumni Association.

"We are especially grateful for the support of Tony Ianiero, executive director of the foundation," she added.

"In the spirit of cooperation, the Alumni Association Board of Directors has pledged the support of our alumni in funding the difference between the foundation grant of $236,500 and the actual cost of construction."

To date, more than 600 alumni have contributed nearly $55,000 for this special project, according to Doug Hippenstiel '68, director of alumni affairs.

"As this new facility becomes a reality, we hope many more of our 45,000 will want to financially support the expansion of our alumni home," he added.

The Fenstemaker Alumni House has been the home of the Alumni Association since 1985, when the association purchased the 1929 structure from the estate of the late Dorothy John Dillon '24. Since that time, it has been the location of the Alumni Office and numerous alumni activities.

The Alumni House is named in honor of Howard F. Fenstemaker '12, long-time faculty and president of the Alumni Association. He also served as editor of the alumni publication for 45 years.

DINNER AT GRANDMA'S? – No, it's not Thanksgiving at Grandma's house. But the 24 members of the Alumni Board can relate to that holiday experience when they try to squeeze into the Fenstemaker Alumni House for a board meeting. The group extends from the living room into the front foyer, while the portrait of Howard Fenstemaker watches from its place of honor above the fireplace mantel.

Construction should be completed in time for the new facility to be dedicated on Homecoming, October 20, 2001.

In addition to the great room, which will be used for receptions, meetings and other alumni activities, the expansion will include a new entrance foyer and reception area, two restrooms, a kitchen, coatroom and storage area. Some other improvements to the existing structure will also be part of the project, including a new heating and air conditioning system.

Beginning in Fall 2001, the next alumni event you attend may be held in the Curtis R. English Great Room. Special interest reunions of 50 to 150 people as well as some Homecoming and Alumni Weekend activities will use the facility.

Plan on stopping in and seeing our new expanded alumni home some time.

Look for an update and photos of the addition construction in the July 2001 issue of the Maroon & Gold.

Husky Ambassadors

Representing the best qualities of the student body at Bloomsburg University, the Husky Ambassadors were established in 1985 to help promote the interests and goals of the university.

The Ambassadors work with the university president, Admissions and the Alumni Association. They stress the importance of being well-rounded and well-informed students. They are committed to the idea that student involvement in support of the university does not end when they complete their studies, but continues throughout life.

Husky Ambassadors serve as official greeters at university events including Homecoming and Alumni Weekend, regional alumni events, open house programs for prospective students as well as receptions at the home of the president.

Save Our Schools

In 1966, Pennsylvania mandated consolidation of the public school system. According to John F. Magill '48, this led to large, impersonal school districts that lost touch with their purpose.

John and his daughter, Kathryn, recently published Public Education in the New Millennium: A Handbook for Parents and Educators on How to Save Our Schools and Prevent Violence, Drug Abuse and other Human Disasters. In it they address a variety of problems on the rise since the reorganization of public schools.

Both authors are qualified to render their opinion on education. John has served public, private and higher education for more than 30 years, as teacher, coach, principal, superintendent, director of education and supervisor of student teachers. Kathy has 25 years experience with at risk children and their families.

The authors maintain that smaller school units can do a better job than large districts. Fewer kids would slip through the cracks.

They see the overhauling of the entire educational system as the only answer. Modern education has become overwhelmed with what they call the 4 Bs: buildings, bonds, budgets and buses. "The reason for schools is kids," says John. "They're not on the list!"

The authors offer several answers in their book. Since larger school districts are here to stay, they recommend working with what exists, making it better. They think school boards should create "schools within schools" that in turn form educational teams headed by key players—teachers. Other team members would include the school nurse, counselors and, of course, parents. Parental involvement is essential to success.

Public Education in the New Millennium is available for $10 from the BE KIND Program, P.O. Box 375, Millerstown PA 17062.

Walter Brasch, professor of journalism, is the author of Brer Rabbit, Uncle Remus and the Cornfield Journalist: The Tale of Joel Chandler Harris, published in September 2000 by Mercer University Press. The book is a sociobiography of Harris, late nineteenth century newspaper reporter and editor. Brasch brings Harris back as a major journalist who promoted racial understanding and helped readers appreciate the sociological, linguistic and folkloristic legacy of the Old South become new.

Reviewers say the book's strong points include an examination of Harris's use of Black speech as well as his critics' evolving responses to the dialect; comments on Harris's presentations of North-South and racial reconciliation themes; analysis of the racial controversies surrounding the Uncle Remus tales; and inventories of the literary and popular culture influences of the Brer Rabbit and Uncle Remus stories.

Melanie Apple

Melanie Apple Williams '81 is known far and wide in the Harrisburg area. She's Melanie Apple on WHP News Talk Radio. Listeners wake up and tune in to her style of "facilitator of information," as she describes her job.

Melanie interspersed lifestyle topics and the exploration of current events with the traffic, weather and news for listeners getting ready for their busy days.

Her show begins at 5 a.m. so she uses four alarms to wake her at 2 a.m. to prepare for the workday.

Melanie, a film and theater major, got into radio by accident. Six months before she graduated, she happened to hear a local announcer complain how tired he was of reading announcements. He asked listeners who might want to help out to give him a call.

"He was joking but I didn't know it," she smiles.

She actually was given a chance to try announcing. When she was done the disc jockey suggested that she give a career in radio a thought. She did.

Although she never went back to film or theater, Melanie says, "Being on the air is a performance, to an extent. Once the microphone goes on, you know the role you play: a positive influence on people waking up in the morning."

While finishing college, Melanie trained at the radio station that gave her her first break in the business, doing news reports. After graduation she worked fulltime in music radio, promotion and sales.

When her son was born, she "retired" to be a fulltime mother. But eight years ago WHP asked her if she would be interested doing in their morning wake-up show.

When Melanie is on the air she pictures the listeners that she has met—not the thousands upon thousands but the individuals. If you're in the Harrisburg area, tune in to WHP 580 and wake up with Melanie!

Grimes Awards

Seventy-five Bloomsburg University alumni have earned distinction as recipients of the 13th annual Richard "Burly" Grimes Loyalty Awards.

They earned this recognition in 2000 by attending a regional alumni event, by returning to campus for either Alumni Weekend or Homecoming and by making a contribution to the Alumni Association or the Bloomsburg University Foundation.

Attending both Alumni Weekend and Homecoming can substitute for a regional alumni event, since the latter are not held in all areas every year.

The award honors the late Richard E. Grimes '49, a retired teacher from Harrisburg, who missed only two Homecomings (1954 and 1998 due to illness) and not a single Alumni Weekend from 1949 to 1998. He earned life-time status on the Alumni Board of Directors in 1994 after completing a total of 14 years of service.

Active retirement

James F. Snyder '58 has not been idle since his retirement from the College of Charleston in June 1999. Jim's been teaching, learning—and swinging—ever since.

After 24 years at the South Carolina school, Jim took only a short break before teaching again.

"The only reason I retired was to get away from the structure of an academic environment," said Jim, "those things that have nothing to do with helping others learn. Europe had been my area of interest and work for 20 years. Upon retiring, I planned to go back to some of my favorite places and take on assignments that included teaching graduates and faculty."

Surprisingly, Jim's first opportunity was an assignment at Bangkok University in Thailand in spring 2000. The University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and Bangkok University had just started a joint doctoral degree program in business administration.

Jim taught strategic management and leadership in organizations courses; a third course in organizational theory was also included. All 17 students, ranging in age from the mid-20s to mid-40s, had been admitted to the program after a strenuous admission process. Most worked in large private organizations in the Bangkok area so classes were held in the evening. All the courses are all taught in English.

wonderful, modern resources and a supportive administration and staff," says Jim. "The people of Thailand are patient and calm, generous and caring. My students were all of those things plus bright and eager to learn."

After a summer course these same students came to the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, for the 2000-2001 academic year. In their third year of the program, they will return to Bangkok and write their dissertations.

Jim's next assignment for the University of Nebraska is in their MBA program in Tirana, Albania. It is a five-week assignment that includes two courses of five hours a week each.

"I hope to learn as much in Albania as I did in Bangkok, but I know the weather will be cooler and there will be no beautiful golf courses," says Jim. "Retirement means different things to different people. To me it means keeping that golf swing grooved and continuing to learn more about helping others learn."

Huskies experience magical fall season on many fields

Football

It was a magical ride to the NCAA championship for the Bloomsburg University football team in 2000. After starting the season with two straight losses, the team went on a 12-game winning streak. Along the way the Huskies beat four teams ranked number one in the NCAA Northeast Region and beat an undefeated UC Davis in California to reach the national championship game. However, the magic ended for the team in the title game as the Huskies lost to Delta State, 63-34.

While the team would have loved to return home from Alabama with a win, the one loss will not take away from a magical season. It was a season that opened with a loss to Carson-Newman, runner-up in the 1999 championship, followed two weeks later by a fall to rival Shippensburg. After wins over Lock Haven, Cheyney and West Chester, the Huskies faced another stiff test in Indiana (PA). Despite Jimcy Barnett nearly losing his life in an injury on the field, the Huskies beat the Indians, the top-ranked team in the Northeast Region, 38-14. Marques Glaze gave everyone a look at what he would be like the rest of the year by rushing for 215 yards and scoring three times.

Next the Huskies sent the East Stroudsburg Warriors packing with a 28-0 shutout. In the win, Eric Miller moved into ninth place in the PSAC for touchdown passes while Mike Lelko tied for the school's all-time lead in scoring receptions. The Huskies breezed past Mansfield, 41-7, with the defense limiting the Mounties to 220 yards of total offense.

The Huskies then faced Millersville, the second of four NCAA Northeast Region number-one-ranked teams. Terrell Johnson's touchdown catch with less than five minutes to play gave Bloomsburg the win. The next week, a trip to Kutztown was on the Huskies' schedule. Despite the Golden Bears' quarterback gaining nearly 500 yards of total offense, the Huskies hung on for a 35-28 win, setting up an end of the season showdown with Slippery Rock, the top-ranked team in the Northeast Region.

Against the Rock, Bloomsburg dominated play for the first three quarters, while building a 34-13 lead. However, the Rock showed some poise and staged a furious fourth period comeback. That comeback nearly came back all the way, but the Huskies hung on for a 34-27 win to earn a berth in the NCAA playoffs.

In the first round, the Huskies faced Saginaw Valley winning 46-32. The Cardinals led 24-13 at halftime, but the Huskies took the lead on a touchdown pass by Miller with 5:38 to play. Bloomsburg sealed the win with a Miller-to-Lelko pass with just over a minute to play.

The following week the Huskies faced Northwood, the fourth team this season to be ranked number one in the region when facing Bloomsburg. After both teams scored on their opening drives, the Huskies dominated play and cruised to the win, setting the team up for a trip west.

Flying across the country to California, the Huskies headed into hostile territory. More than 3,000 miles from home, playing in front of over 10,000 fans, Bloomsburg fell behind 48-29 after three quarters of play. While many thought the season to be over, the team had other ideas. In what may be one of the greatest comebacks in football history, the Huskies scored four touchdowns in the final 15 minutes of play, outgaining the host school 201 to 63 yards in the final period to pull out the win. While the Huskies and the few hundred BU fans on hand to witness the incredible comeback celebrated, 10,000 stunned Aggie fans were left to wonder what happened and why their team was not headed for the national championship.

In Alabama for the championship game the weather was perfect, the field was perfect (with the help of lots of green paint), but the final outcome not so perfect as the Huskies lost to a very-talented Delta State team. It was not the ending fans of the Huskies had hoped for, but a 12-3 record and a spot in the national championship game was nothing anyone ever expected after starting the season 0-2.

Coach Danny Hale was named NCAA Division II Coach of the Year. As part of this honor, he served as an assistant coach in the Hula Bowl played in Hawaii on January 20.

Women's Soccer

The Bloomsburg University women's soccer team once again proved that it is one of the top programs in the country after posting a record of 16-4-1 and winning the NCAA Northeast Regional title in 2000.

The Huskies started the season with six consecutive wins, including shutouts in four of the first five games. After the loss to Lock Haven, the Huskies suffered a loss and a tie in two of its next three games leaving the team with a record of 7-2-1. From that point on, the Huskies reeled off eight wins in a row to end the regular season and earn the top spot in the PSAC playoffs. In a rematch with Lock Haven for the PSAC title, the Huskies and Bald Eagles battled each other for every inch of turf on Bloomsburg's home field. Leading 2-1 with less than a minute to go, the Huskies looked as though they would win their first PSAC title since 1998. However, the Bald Eagles tied the game at 2-2 sending the game into overtime. In the fourth overtime period, the Bald Eagles scored giving Lock Haven the conference crown.

The two teams met again a week later in the first round of the NCAA championships. Playing at Lock Haven, the Huskies dominated play with Christine Krebs scoring both Bloomsburg goals in a 2-0 victory and the Northeast Regional championship. It was Krebs' fifth straight game scoring at least one goal.

Next up for the Huskies was Franklin Pierce College on the road in New Hampshire. The Ravens showed why they were defending champs with three goals in each half on its way to a 6-0 win.

Men's Soccer

The men's soccer team posted a record of 8-8-3 (1-5-2 in the PSAC) during the 2000 season. The Huskies did post several big wins during the season, including a 2-1 win over the number-one-ranked team in Division II, Dowling College. Coach Paul Payne's squad was hurt this season by an injury bug that depleted his squad. Alex Sisakovic and Lee Senior, were named second team All-PSAC.

Sisakovic, a senior midfielder, was named to the first team after earning second team honors a year ago. He was also named second team All-Region by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. He finished this season leading the team in all major statistical categories with six goals, six assists, 18 points and 0.9 points per game. In his career, Sisakovic has 14 goals and seven assists for a total of 35 points.

Senior, a senior defenseman, was named to the All-PSAC second team for the second straight season. He provided the Huskies with leadership, experience and strong defense throughout the season. He was the anchor of a defense that allowed only 1.834 goals per game and recorded five shutouts this season. He also chipped in on offense with one goal for two points in 18 games played. For his career, Senior has two goals and one assist for a total of five points.

Field Hockey

By most standards a 16-3 record is considered a positive season for many schools around the country. However, with the history as strong as Bloomsburg, that mark could be considered disappointing. Among the team's three losses was one in the semi-finals of the PSAC which also kept the Huskies from advancing to the NCAA playoffs for the first time in ten years. The Huskies were also not able to defend their record four consecutive D-II championships.

Four field hockey players were named All-Americans by the National Field Hockey Coaches Association (NFHCA). In addition, four players also earned All-PSAC honors this season.

Leah Conte, a senior defensive player, was named first team All-American after earning second team honors a year ago. A first team All-PSAC selection this year, she finished the year with five goals and seven assists. For her career, Conte had six goals and nine assists.

Conte was also a first-team All-PSAC selection in 1999. The Huskies had a 76-7 cumulative record during her career, won two PSAC titles and three straight Division II national titles from 1997-1999. Conte was also selected to start in the NFHCA Division II North/South Senior All-Star Game.

Krista Engle, an attack player, was named first team All-American after being a second team selection in 1999. In 2000, Engle, a first team All-PSAC selection, led the team with 14 goals and also had six assists. She was named PSAC Player of the Week during the season. Engle, a two-time member of the NFHCA All-Academic team, finished her career with 36 goals and 15 assists.

Senior Heather Weikel was named first team All-American for the first time in her career. This year Weikel, a second team All-PSAC selection in 2000, scored seven goals and had five assists for a total of 19 points. She finished her career with 20 goals and 12 assists for a total of 52 points. Weikel was also selected as an alternate for the North/South All-Star Game.

Sophomore Trisha Leitzel earned second team All-American honors for the second straight year. During the year Leitzel posted a 0.86 goals against average and 8.5 shutouts. She also made 73 saves in 1,224 minutes of play.

Senior defenseman Cheri Forry was named first-team All-PSAC for the first time in her career. She appeared in all 19 of the Huskies' games and played strong defense while providing the defense with senior leadership. Forry finished her career at Bloomsburg with one goal and one assist for a total of three points.

Cross Country

The Bloomsburg cross country teams showed some big improvement this season under second-year coaches Karen and Jim Brandt. The men's team finished 11th at the PSAC championships and 14th at the NCAA regional championships. The women's team was eighth at both the PSACs and the NCAA regionals. The future for both these teams looks bright.

At the PSAC women's championship, the top female runner for the Huskies was Jen McNeal, who finished in 15th place with a time of 24.16. For finishing in the top 15 at the championships, McNeal was named to the All-PSAC team.

Good climbing

F. David Good '80 reports on his mountain climbing trips.

"In this photo, taken in November 1999, Janet and I had just kayaked most of the day across Lake Titicaca, the world's highest navigable lake. We were on route to go mountain climbing in the Bolivian Andes, attempting Mt. Codorri

"When we pulled up lakeside and took the camping gear out of the kayaks, we noticed a small crowd of curious children. We motioned for them come over and spoke to them in broken Spanish. They spoke some Spanish but their native language was Andean Spanish, a form not covered in Spanish 101!

"The children were quite curious about our boats and us. They had not seen many plastic kayaks. We gave them some playing cards and candy and asked if they would mind posing for a picture.

"I remembered that I had my Bloomsburg alumni banner that Doug Hippenstiel gave me. I take it along on all our climbing trips and try to get a shot on the summit with it in hand.

"We told the girls that the banner was from a very good school that I attended back in my home country. They giggled and said that they, too, went to school but they didn't have a banner.

"As we were taking the photo, a man working down by the lake joined us. He carried the reeds he had just harvested on his back. Later he would dry the reeds and make a kayak-type boat from them, totally by hand. The reeds are very durable, tough and buoyant!

"Janet and I have been climbing together since 1998 and enjoy these trips immensely. We try to pick areas where we not only get to climb an interesting peak but also explore the surrounding area and meet the local people. This takes us outside the typical tourist zones and allows us to be exposed to customs, dress and food that we might not otherwise experience.

"We've also started to bring basic medical supplies, sneakers and t-shirts to hand out to people. Usually they don't have much of anything. We also try to show some of the local guides and porters how to dress a wound and use antiseptic cream to minimize infection. Conditions are rudimentary and basic medical knowledge can be very helpful.

"Janet and I also cherish the opportunity to spend time alone with each other. She is a great tent-mate!

"In 2000, we summitted Mt. Rainier (in Washington state) in blizzard conditions as well as Pico de Aneto in Spain. We also went trekking in Nepal near the base of Mt. Everest where we made it up Goyko Ri. There we gave a short clinic on treatment of wounds and handed out sneakers, donated by friends in Atlanta to Sherpa guides, some of whom carry heavy loads over mountain trails in nothing but flip-flops!"

Mary Gardner, BU athletic director, and Pam Gill-Fisher, UC-Davis associate athletic director and senior women's sports administrator.

Jock-girl paradise

Bloomsburg University was name the second-best Division II school for female athletes in the September/October issue of Sports Illustrated for Women.

Last year BU was named third best by the magazine.

This year, Bloomsburg is second only to UC-Davis, the Division II school that the Huskies beat in NCAA football semi-finals. UC-Davis was rated first for women both years. Abilene Christian is third this year, down from second place last year.

"Women rule here," said Sports Illustrated, noting that BU has a female president and the women's athletic teams sport a better record than the men's teams. They also mention that one-third of female students take part in intra-mural supports.

"Add classes like Women in Sports, a killer outdoor-rec program and state-school tuition levels and you've got girl-jock paradise," the magazine continues.

The editors used a variety of factors to determine the top schools, including national titles; varsity, club and intra-mural opportunities; graduation rates; financial aid and fan support. They also considered sports-related curriculum, traditions and attitude.

Friends of the Bloomsburg University Library forms

by Robert Abbott

For many of us, one of the most significant parts of our academic experience is the time we spent in the college library. For most alumni, the memories are of the Old Andruss Library. For the next generation it will be the New Andruss Library.

A group of us who feel strongly about the role the library plays in campus and community life thought it was an appropriate time to organize additional support for the university library. With a board of faculty and staff (current and retired), town folks and a student, we are working to create a vigorous association of volunteers committed to the ideals expressed in the association's constitution.

Recognizing that the Bloomsburg University Andruss Library provides valuable academic service to the university and the larger community, we hereby establish this association and pledge ourselves to accomplish the following goals:

1. To provide resources for study, research and teaching

2. To establish a network of members who believe in supporting the intellectual advancement and cultural enhancement of the university and the state at large

3. To serve as a vehicle for securing funds and support for the Andruss Library in cooperation with the Development Office

4. To work in harmony with Andruss Library personnel and the Bloomsburg University Foundation

5. To organize activities such as:

- Sponsoring special projects which have been identified by the library director or the association
- Publishing a newsletter that informs members about social events in the library and effects communication with the membership
- Endeavoring to acquire books, diaries, letters and other materials of historical value to the people of the region
- Encouraging businesses and corporations to make tangible and/or intangible contributions to support the Andruss Library's needs
- Hosting a dinner(s)/luncheon(s) on behalf of the library
- Working to assist the library to achieve its academic mission

In November, the Friends began its lecture series with a presentation, "From Institute Hall to modern campus: the physical development of Bloomsburg University," by Robert Dunkelberger, university archivist.

The tentative topic for the spring presentation is "Libraries in the age of the internet: challenges and opportunities."

Board members include Charles H. Carlson, president, Peter Bohling, secretary; Thaddeus Piotrowski, George Agbango, Doug Hippenstiel, William Acierno, Charles Hoppel, Roy Pointer, Stephen Kozloff, I. Sue Jackson, Robert Abbott, Cheng Shuh Roh, Robert Dunkelberger (ex-officio), John Pitcher (ex-officio) and Matt Hutchinson (ex-officio).

If you share our goals and are interested in joining us, consider becoming a member of the Friends of the Bloomsburg University Library Association. A three-year individual membership is only $25. Make your check or money order payable to: The Bloomsburg University Foundation @ FOBULA. Send to: Robert Abbott, Friends of the Bloomsburg University Library Association, Bloomsburg University, 400 East Second Street, Bloomsburg PA 17815.

For more information, contact Robert Abbott at 570-389-4100, 570-389-3846 (fax) or rabbott@bloomu.edu.

Even if you only visit campus occasionally, please consider joining us. It is our hope that the association will provide all alumni with a means of both supporting the library and, through the Friends of the Bloomsburg Library Association Newsletter, keeping abreast of changes as the library moves into the digital future.

Record giving boosts campaign totals

Alumni, parents and friends of Bloomsburg University set another record for giving during fiscal year 1999-2000. Gifts from all sources totaled $4,346,756—a 16% jump from the previous year. Alumni gifts accounted for 30% of the contributions. The three largest gifts from individuals, totaling more than $425,000, came from Mildred Muller '34, Robert D. Warren '95 (H), Jack L. McDowell III '87 (H) and Susan McDowell.

"Bloomsburg University is fortunate to have such great support from all of its constituencies," said Jessica S. Kozloff, Bloomsburg University president. "Thanks to all of them, Bloomsburg is better able to provide for the rapidly changing educational needs of our students. Our donors have demonstrated their loyalty to this institution by once again making it a leader within the State System of Higher Education."

Of the 14 State System of Higher Education universities, Bloomsburg took the top spot in fundraising. During the past five years, Bloomsburg University has also increased its fundraising from private sources by 207%. In addition, The Bloomsburg University Foundation's endowment has risen 290% since 1995.

Parent phonathon breaks record

The 2000 parent phonathon, held October 16 through November 13, 2000, was a success according to Eileen Evert, BU's coordinator of the annual fund.

Through the efforts of student callers, $108,525 was pledged by 1,374 donors.

"I was impressed with the commitment of the student callers to increase parent participation and surpass our goal," said Eileen. "When we reached our goal of $100,000, caller enthusiasm continued. We kept aiming higher to see how far we could go."

Krista DiAngelus '01 and Eric Eichhorst '01 served as student supervisors during the phonathon. Highlights of the 2000 parent phonathon:

- Participation rate of 24.1%—the highest since 1992
- 127 matching gifts from organizations—the most since 1995
- Highest total revenue since 1996

Goal raised to $15 million

On track to surpass an original goal of $11 million, Bloomsburg University's Campaign Steering Committee and The Bloomsburg University Foundation increased its goal to $15 million.

"There was a consensus that we would exceed our original goal before the campaign officially ended," says Anthony M. Iamero, executive director of The Bloomsburg University Foundation. "Last year provided a lot of momentum for our fundraising efforts."

With the increased goal, two new projects were added—a pedestrian mall and an endowed mathematics, science and technology scholarship. The university's annual fund goal was also raised.

For more information about BU's new campaign goal, be sure to read the spring issue of Bloomsburg magazine.

BU Foundation changes to fiscal year

At its December 2000 meeting, The Bloomsburg University Foundation board of directors took action to change its accounting basis from a calendar to a fiscal year. The change will be in keeping with both the university and national organizations that report figures on voluntary giving to education.

A six-month period, January 1 to June 30, 2001, will serve as the transition to the new fiscal year that will begin July 1, 2001.

Moving to the fiscal year necessitates changing the annual Maroon & Gold recognition of donors from summer to winter, as follows:

Date of Gift Recognition	Honor Roll
January 1 to December 31, 2000	July 2001
January 1 to June 30, 2001	January 2002
July 1 to June 30 2002	January 2003

Teacher certification

In November 1999, the state legislature passed Act 48 which requires all persons holding Pennsylvania professional educator certification to complete continuing education requirements every five years in order to maintain their Level I and Level II certificates as active.

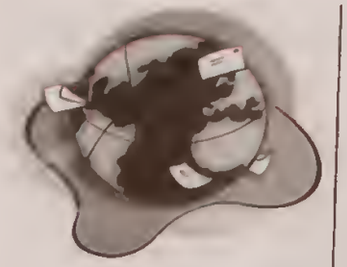
The law applies to all public school certificate holders no matter where they are, what they are doing or when their certificates were issued. Inactive certification will prevent an educator from serving in a professional position in the public school in the Commonwealth.

Educators must maintain their certificates as active by earning six collegiate credits, six PCE-approved in-service credits, 180 continuing education hours or any combination of the above every five calendar years. The first five year period began on July 1, 2000, and included the 600,000 plus educator whose records are maintained by the Bureau of Teacher Certification and Preparation at the Department of Education.

Educators who are not employed as professional or temporary professional employees by public school entities may elect to request voluntary inactive certification status from the department in order to suspend the requirements of Act 48. The cost is $15. Call 717 787 3356 or download form 338R from www.pde.psu.edu/CERTIFICATION/pde338r.pdf.

Twelve months prior to the end of the five-year period, the department will notify educators about their continuing education status and remaining credits/hours, if any, to be completed. The department will again notify the educator at the end of the five-year period.

Information regarding Act 48 requirements and continuing education status is available through the department's web pages at www.pde.state.pa.us.



In search of all BU alumni

Have you ever tried to get in touch with an old classmate, only to find that the last print directory is out-of-date? Well, your troubles are over. Soon an impressive directory of our alumni will be available to help you locate all your friends.

The new Bloomsburg University Alumni Directory, scheduled for release in August 2001, will be a complete reference of more than 45,000 Bloomsburg University alumni!

This comprehensive volume will include current name, address, phone number, plus academic and business information, bound into a classic, library-quality edition. The data will be sorted by name, class year and geographical location in separate sections of the book.

The compiling of information for the directory is already underway by the Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company. If you have not already done so, please return your questionnaire to them today.

Beginning in early February, Harris representatives will start phoning alumni for the verification phase of the project. You can also reserve your copy of the directory at this time by advising the Harris representative. This will be the only opportunity for alumni to order the book.

Soon, locating fellow alumni will be as easy as turning a page in the Bloomsburg University Alumni Directory. Don't miss the opportunity to be part of it.

Veterans' Corner

by Dale Krothe '60

I had the distinct pleasure to meet the Veterans Memorial Scholarship recipient for 2000 at a reception on October 8. Joann L. Beneshunas, a senior, will receive the $1000 award. A Ringtown criminal justice major, she talked at length on the value of the scholarship and the positive impact it has had on her future plans.

The Veterans Memorial Scholarship fund now stands at $13,209. We hope to exceed $15,000 by May 2001. Please consider a gift to this "living memorial" to our BU veterans. Donations may be written directly to the fund or a contribution of $50 or more to the general fund can be designated to the Veterans Memorial Scholarship.

Korean War Veterans or their surviving next of kin are now eligible for the Korean War Service Medal at no cost. Requirements:

- Service between June 25, 1950, and July 27, 1953.
- Permanent assignment or temporary duty for 30 consecutive or 60 non-consecutive days.
- Duties performed within Korea territorial limits in aerial combat, or support missions over Korea or water immediately adjacent to Korea.

To request the medal, call Air Force Personnel Center at 1-800-558-1404 or Awards and Decorations Section at 210-565-2432. You can also write to: HQ AFPC/DPPPRA, 550 C Street West, Suite 12, Randolph Air Force Base TX 78150-4714.

We hope to expand our committee by adding three new members from the Korean, Vietnam and Gulf Wars. This would provide a wider perspective and greater range of ideas for future planning.

Call the Alumni House at 1-800-526-0254 to request a bio form so your service data can be included in our Book of Service for BU veterans. Also, drop us a line anytime if you have ideas the might make our agenda more effective and informative.

Hope to see you at Alumni Day and Homecoming 2001.

Bierman takes home the gold

George E. Bierman '77 won four medals at the 5th International Martial Arts Festival in St. Petersburg, Russia last May. The 44 year-old stockbroker took home two gold, one silver and one bronze from the former city of Leningrad.

As a 6th degree black belt master with more than 27 years of training, George was eager to represent the USA, competing against top martial artists from 39 countries. The tournament attracted 1,900 competitors challenging in 162 events and was the equivalent of the world championships.

"I was the oldest guy in the tournament and I feel they underestimated me," George said. He won one of his gold medals in long weapons, his silver in kata (set patterns against an imaginary opponent) and his bronze in kumite (individual fighting). His second gold was earned in team fighting where George was paired with two Russians on a three-man team.

When civil unrest canceled a similar trip in 1998, the original 13-member USA team dwindled to four: a captain, a coach and two competitors. George admitted he was somewhat embarrassed that his team was small but he found the experience of competing in the three-day event in the former Czars' Hippodrome the highlight of his athletic career.

George began his training in 1973 in International Tae Kwon Do at Bloomsburg. He currently studies Goshin Jutsu Karate with 10th degree black belt grandmaster Joe Brague in Williamsport.

The list of George's major karate awards fills four pages and includes a fourth place award in forms at the 1992 World Karate Championship, 1993 National Black Belt of the Year and 1996 World Karate Hall of Fame inductee. There is even a Master George E. Bierman collectors' card!

George has worked for Merrill Lynch in Williamsport since 1984 and is as assistant vice president. He lives in Montoursville.

Genovese fulfills hiking dream in one shot

Gabriel Genovese '97 spent 207 days fulfilling his dream—a dream of hiking the Appalachian Trail in one shot.

The Appalachian Trail stretches 2,167.1 miles through 14 states from Springer Mountain in Georgia near Atlanta to Katchdin in Maine.

Before he left on his journey, March 7, 2000, Gabe was a certified public account living in Emmaus. He quit his job, sold his car and gave up his apartment to fulfill his dream.

He began by taking a plane to Atlanta. From there, he was driven to the base of Springer Mountain, where he hiked 7½ miles to the start of the trail.

He packed lightly: tent sleeping bag, stove, cook pot, food, rain gear, first aid kit, walking pole and camera. As the trip went on, Gabe realized that even less gear would mean an easier walk. He began to mail nonessential items home, keeping an extra pair of socks, long underwear, a fleece, rain gear, three to four days supply of food, comb toothbrush, toothpaste, handanas, camera and a teddy bear.

Along the way, he bought a small Walkman and food that he sent ahead to himself via post offices along the route.

"Every day you wake up and every day you walk."

"The footpath along the mountians and through the forests certainly awoke my senses to the natural surroundings," Gabe said.

But not every night was spent under the stars.

Gabe used The Appalachian Trail Thru-Hiker's Companion published by the Appalachian Trail Conference. It provides tips for hikers as well as a list of motels, hostels, churches and individual homeowners who offer showers and rooms to hikers.

At the unofficial mid-way point, Harper's Ferry, West Virginia, Appalachian Trail Conference Center staffers took his photo, name and address, as well as gave him a pep talk to complete the journey.

Gabe averaged 10 to 13 miles a day on rough parts of the trail and 20 miles a day in some areas of Virginia.

At night, the hikers congregated in the shelters to share tales of their experiences. Of the 2,700 hikers who aspired to complete the whole trail last year, 600 of them dropped out before completing the first 30 miles. Only 10 percent of those who start actually finish.

On weekends the trails were busier with day hikers only tackling small sections of the trail.

His perceptions of the adventure changed as week followed week and month followed month. He learned that is was not just a frolic in the woods. Being wet when it rained was the worst of it all.

It rained the 30 of the first 40 days of the trip. The last section of the trip was in 29-degree weather in snowy Maine.

"Every day you wake up and every day you walk. It was harder than I imagined. It was more like a job." Gabe said.

He maintained his slim 130-pounds throughout the 6½-month trek, although hikers often lose 20-40 pounds he said.

One visual experience that will not soon fade from his memory was walking along the summit of the White Mountains in New Hampshire. The trail goes above the tree line so it is just the hiker, the mountain and the sky.

There were deer everywhere, lots of bears, a couple of coyotes, rattlesnakes and copperheads.

In preparation for Gabe's homecoming, sisters Melissa Genovese-Drury '92 and Andrea Genovese Glose '94 painted a large sheet hanner (like the old sorority days) to hang from the front porch of their parents' home in Emmaus.

On September 29, when Gabe emerged at the end of the trial where his parents awaited, he looked quite different from when he started. He had not cut his hair or shaved in 207 days.

But he emerged a stronger person. He had accomplished something thousands of hikers only dream of doing!

From articles by Corrine Durdock of the Emmaus East Penn Press and Tom Fegely of the Allentown Morning Call.

On June 32, 2000, day 109, Gabe reached the half-way point in Pine Grove Furnace State Park in Southcentral Pennsylvania. Only 1,083.5 miles to go!

Gabe Genovese '97 began his hike on March 8, 2000, in Springer Mountain, Georgia, the southern terminus of the Appalachain Trail.

After 207 days, 14 states and 2,167.1 miles, Gabe reached the end of the trail in Katahdin, Maine.

Hess heads glowing enterprise

Patricia Bird Hess '79, owner of Colonial Candlecrafters in Lewisburg, has kept the home fires burning. What started out as a hobby for her parents soon turned into a full-time business—a glowing enterprise that Pat and her husband took over shortly after her graduation from Bloomsburg.

Pat's mother and father, Beverly and Howard Bird, learned how to make candles at a Junior Civic Organization meeting. When their stove-top candle-making efforts needed more space they decided to go into business. The Birds opened Colonial Candlecrafters in March 1972, and Pat started working there at age 14. "I literally grew up with the business," she said.

After college, Pat managed the business from 1979 to 1982. When her parents were ready to retire, Pat and her husband, Greg, bought the business rather then see it go to someone else.

Today Colonial Candlecrafters is going strong thanks to the hard work of Pat and her nine employees. The business continues to operate in its original location and includes a 1200-square-foot showroom and a 30,000-square-foot manufacturing warehouse. Last year they hand-poured more than 80,000 pounds of wax!

A typical day for Pat begins at 6 a.m. when she goes to the shop to plug in the cookers that melt the wax. The first worker arrives at 7 a.m. Color and scent are mixed and the initial pouring is done about 7:45 a.m. Since wax shrinks as it hardens, candles must be re-poured several times to prevent holes. The final pouring of the day is done about 4 p.m. Between pourings, the three full-time candle-makers clean up previously made candles, label jar candles, cut and unmold pillar candles, restock shelves and set up for the next day's pouring.

In the candle business fragrance is important, so it's a significant part of Pat's job. A total of 51 scents are available at the shop, changing to meet, as well as excite, the tastes of customers. Records of the popularity of fragrances are kept. One might guess that the number-one selling candle is cinnamon bun!

Pat's favorites are ocean mist and nature's trail. Many of the fragrances they use were inspired by scents smelled on family trips. Recently, Pat tested a new fragrance, mother earth, a mix of earthy and cedar smells.

Pillar candles were the first type of candle manufactured by Colonial Candlecrafters. Pat is proud of the unique hammering technique used to decorate special pillar models. The unity candle, one that features a wedding invitation or appropriate verse, is another popular pillar candle.

Fundraisers have become big business for the workshop. "It gets the product out and gives a good return to the nonprofit organization," explains Pat.

Bus trips often stop at the shop for tours.

Colonial Candlecrafters maintains an informative web site at www.colonialcandlecrafters.com. There you can view many of the products available as well as read about the history of the company. You can even learn a few care tips such as polishing candles that have become dull with a nylon stocking. In addition, the site supplies plenty of contact information, directions and user-friendly fields for emailing questions. "Even though this new technology has brought us together faster," reads the web page, "we still like to talk to people."

The workshop is always busy; candles are made four or five days a week, depending on the season. More than 40% of the candles sold are made on the premises. Colonial Candlecrafters also has sales representatives on the road selling to 150 wholesale accounts as far away as New York and Virginia.

Last year Pat was chosen to design and manufacture a commemorative candle for a govemors'convention in State College. Her 3 x 9 inch hammer-distressed pillar candle incorporating the convention logo was presented to the wives of the govennors of the 50 states as well as to other dignitaries.

After 29 years in the business, Pat says she still has fun at work. The fragrant atmosphere may add to her enjoyment, too. Aromatherapy at work.

Myles J. Anderson '62 is director of Walla Walla Community College's Institute for Enology and Viticulture, the science of wine making and cultivation of grapes.

Little did Myles know he was headed in that direction when he earned his degree in elementary education from Bloomsburg.

When Myles was completing doctoral work in psychology at the University of Wyoming, his wife, Myrna, encouraged him to take up a hobby. She even gave him a wine encyclopedia as a gift.

After the Andersons moved to Washington in 1978, where Myles taught psychology at Walla Walla Community College, Myrna gave his hobby another nudge — a winemaking kit.

Myles joined with a friend, Gordon Venneri, who had just returned from a visit with family in Calabria, Italy, to try to make wine. They bought grapes from local growers, experimenting with both white and red, but settling on red. By the early 1990s they were turning out 50 cases of wine a year for family and friends.

In 1995, with the help of Alan Jones, another partner who had joined them, they opened a commercial winery. Eventually Myles and Gordon bought out Alan forming Walla Walla Vintners, makers of premium wines.

Their wines have won praise from the critics and public alike. Their 1998 Columbia Valley merlot was scored by Wine Spectator magazine as one of the best in the state of Washington. They now produce 2,400 cases of wine a year.

In 2000, Myles left the psychology department at Walla Walla to direct the school's Institute for Enology and Viticulture. The program was developed in response to the need for grape-growing and winemaking courses.

The classrooms are in wineries and vineyards. Myles has set aside land at his own winery for students to plant and cultivate their own rows of grapes. He and other local vineyards allow students to intern with them to learn the fermentation process.

Winemaking is not yet a full-fledged major at the college but that may change in the future if the market for wines continues to boom. In the meantime, the wine institute structures the program in such a way that students can easily move to Washington State University for a degree in enology.

Deqing Tao '95M, authored Theory and Research on Learning Attitudes, published in his homeland of China in April

After ten years of development and research, Deqing's book presents his ideas and research in four parts. First, he states the idea that fostering an active learning attitude is more vital than filling a young mind with knowledge. Learning attitudes formed during schooling transfer to working attitudes as well as living attitudes, Deqing contends

Next, he explains how education has traditionally emphasized the consequences of learning rather than the process of learning. The third section discusses the importance of learning attitudes in the development of character

The fourth and longest section of the book details the research supporting the author's ideas and the methods he used to study them

Deqing came to Bloomsburg University in the summer of 1994 and earned a master of science in special education in December 1995. He says while here he had the opportunity to observe America and think of China from another perspective. He remembers fondly those who taught and helped him at Bloomsburg. He also recalls Navy Hall, the pool, Montgomery Apartments, Bloomsburg Fair, the town library and post office.

He is currently on the faculty of South China Normal University in Guangzhou, China. He can be reached at taodq@scnu.edu.cn.

BU softball era ends

Tom McGuire
Sports Information Director

The Erica Miller – Vanessa Sterner softball era at Bloomsburg came to end in Virginia after the Huskies dropped their second game of the 2001 NCAA championship tournament to Humboldt State. Despite not winning a national championship, the 2001 season will be oneHuskies fans remember.

Bloomsburg advanced to the NCAA championship round for the second straight year by sweeping through both the PSAC and NCAA regional championships. The Huskies won the PSAC title for the first time since 1995 by beating Indiana 2-1 in eight innings. Bloomsburg then won the Mid-Atlantic Regional title with three straight wins to earn a trip to Salem, Virginia.

The Huskies started the championship round with a 2-1 loss to Humboldt State of California. Facing elimination, Bloomsburg sent Kennesaw State home early with a 3-2 win in a loser's bracket game. Miller homered to tie the game; then later in the inning, Alison Necci scored on a hit by Lisa Mull to give Bloomsburg the win.

In the third game of the tournament, the Huskies took care of Alabama-Huntsville, 3-1, with Mull getting a first-inning, three-run triple. Bloomsburg's fourth game of the tournament was a second meeting with Humboldt State. The Huskies suffered the same result as game one, a 2-1 loss, sending the team home with a 44-7 season record.

The season was memorable for the Huskies in many ways. The team snapped California's (PA) five-year stranglehold on the PSAC title and then earned its second straight trip to the national championship round with a regional title.

The Huskies were ranked number one in the country for several weeks after beating some of the nation's best teams on its southern trip to start the year.

Lisa Mull was named the National Player of the Week, while Amber Cowher and Jessica Shnyder each earned PSAC Player of the Week multiple times.

And last but not least, Erica Miller continued to rewrite both the PSAC and Bloomsburg record books. Miller set PSAC and school career records for homers (56), hits (301), runs batted in (204), doubles (70), total bases (570), extra-base hits (137), average (.457) and slugging percentage (.840).

Vanessa Sterner set both PSAC and school single-season records for homers (18) and runs batted in (68).

During the Miller-Sterner era at Bloomsburg, the Huskies posted a record of 174-38-1, finished tied for third and fourth at the last two NCAA championships, won two regional championships and one PSAC title. You can bet opposing coaches and pitchers will breathe a sigh of relief knowing the names Miller and Sterner will no longer be written on the lineup cards for Bloomsburg.

Get Me to My Destination

Gary Maks '77

I remember sitting in Dr. Dill's finance class, going over the suggested reading in my student subscription copy of The Wall Street Journal and wondering where I was going to end up once all the coursework was over. Now I have been working for Dow Jones, the company that publishes the paper, for nearly 20 years.

Earning a business degree at Bloomsburg in 1977 was an accomplishment that prepared me for a successful career as well as gave me what I needed to do well in graduate school.

My wife, Wendy Wilson '82, and I knew each other, but we dated other people while at Bloomsburg. It took a get-well card from Wendy after a serious motorcycle accident to get us together. Married in July 1978, we have three children: Christopher, 20; Megan, 17; and Aubrey, 11 (yes, Aubrey got her name from the 1970s Bread song).

Besides all the class work, two major activities—playing the guitar and practicing martial arts—kept me busy at college. The martial arts gave way to running long ago. I have to admit my mile times are getting slower but the music plays on.

Fellow alumni from 1974-1977 may recall me playing in a rock band or performing solo at an occasional Kehr Union coffeehouse. This picture from 1976 was taken at one of the weekend dance nights in the Union. I gave the guitar in the photo to my son, Christopher, several years ago as his first guitar.

Playing in bands and being out several nights per week ended when Christopher came along in 1981. Since then, I've composed some music, but only as scribbled notes or tunes carried in my head. I finally got around to an organized effort two years ago, putting that music down on paper, writing the lyrics and composing some completely new songs.

The end product is my ten-song CD, Get Me to My Destination, finished in April. It took 13 months of weekly sessions at the recording studio.

The songs come from life experiences of one kind or another. The music is a mix of pop, country, ballads and light rock. All the lyrics are clean enough to let your kids listen to them.

High-Speed Anticipation
I took a job assignment in the mid 1990s that required a long, daily commute by train. I got to know the feel of that train ride and the life of a commuter all too well. It's one of routinely spending too much time away from your family. The song's about a fellow who realizes he's been chasing an empty dream and needs to return to the girl he mistakenly left behind. The album title and cover design are taken from the lyrics to this song. The photos were taken at the Trenton train station, where I spent nearly two years running after Amtrak trains.

Heart Strings
I wrote this song for my daughter, Megan. It's about the joy of having a daughter, the desire to hold time still, the eventual letting go and the heartstrings that tie you forever.

My Love Is There
We have good friends whose marriage fell apart and who went separate, distant ways. I wrote this from the perspective of how it might feel to be in the guy's shoes. This one has more pop style.

Finish Line
In the form of more traditional rock 'n roll, a hopeless relationship with a fast woman is expressed in car racing metaphors. Honey, this was definitely before we started going out.

Passion Ride
This is simply a feel-good song about being with the one you are infatuated with. OK, so maybe it's a little sappy. But what's wrong with good feelings and romantic weekends?

Adoration
This is a Yanni-type instrumental that combines guitars with orchestra strings and woodwinds, trying to capture a spirit of worship in a tribute to the Good Lord.

Take This Chance
Remember how it felt back when you were dating? This is an upbeat tune about those hopeful thoughts and feelings.

Hearts That Won't Let Go
After more years than it should have taken, this is the song I finally wrote for Wendy. It's also the one that got all my energies focused on writing music.

Bus Stop Girl
This is a ballad about the experience that every guy has had at one time.

Out On the Internet
All my years in the computer systems field had to come out somewhere. This is a timely song about the current craze of looking for love out in cyberspace. There are plenty of guitar licks, a campy organ solo and a break into chaos ending. Quite fitting, don't you think?

I produced the CD to get the songs into as many people's hands—and ears—as possible. I don't expect to hit the charts or become rich and famous. But a major artist or someone who knows or works with a major artist may someday hear one of my songs and want to record it.

I've been slowly building a list of radio stations in different states that have agreed to review my CD for their play list. They are independent or listener-supported stations, not large commercial stations dominated by the major record labels. Using the internet to locate and contact these stations has been invaluable.

The CD can be sampled and purchased on-line at my web site www.maxtrackmusic.com.

When an alumni or student buys the CD for $10, I will give $3 to Bloomsburg University. To identify the purchase to benefit BU, just type alum@bloomu.edu on the credit card input screen. Students can use their Bloomsburg student email address.

I hope you enjoy the music.

Baseball

The baseball team got of to a good start this season going 12-9 through its first 21 games. The team, though, hit a rough stretch after that and won just four of its remaining games ending with a record of 16-32.

There were two bright spots for the Huskies as two players earned second team All-PSAC honors.

Jason Helcoski, a junior, was named a second team All-PSAC first baseman after leading the team in several offensive categories. He led the team in batting average (.401), homers (7), runs batted in (39), hits (57), slugging percentage (.648) and walks (29).

Brian Martin, a sophomore, hit .397 for the Huskies and was second in homers (4), hits (52), doubles (12) and slugging percentage (.611), while leading the team in runs scored (36).

Lacrosse

The lacrosse team finished with a 9-6 record in 2001. While it was another winning season for the Huskies, the team had high expectations going to into the season after earning the pre-season number one ranking from Lacrosse Magazine.

However, the team's offense struggled in some games with the defense suffering in others. Overall, the team games by one, two and three goals.

Named first team All-Americans were Roxann Emerick and Margo Wiley. Named All-PSAC were Georgia Carinci, Roxann Emerick and Margo Wiley. Named second team All-PSAC was Nicole Wiley.

Midfielder Roxann Emerick was also named to the first-team offense. She led the team with 51 goals in 2001 and added seven assists to her totals.

Named to the first-team defense was senior midfielder Margo Wiley. Margo was the fourth-leading goal scorer for Bloomsburg in 2001. In addition to 16 goals and 11 assists in 2001, she also helped lead the Bloomsburg defense. She is a three-time first-team honoree, and has been named a second-team All-American each of the past two seasons as well.

Freshman Georgia Carinci was named to the first-team offense, and was named Rookie of the Year. Georgia, an attack, finished her first season of college lacrosse with 30 goals and 27 assists. Her assists total stands as a new single-season school record.

Margo's twin sister, Nicole, was named to the second-team defense. Nicole was Bloomsburg's defensive specialist all season, typically matching up against the opponent's top-line attacker.

Tennis

Both the men's and women's tennis teams had outstanding seasons for the Huskies and earned trips to the NCAA championships.

The women's team finished with a record of 13-7 and lost in the regional finals to West Liberty, 5-4.

Earning first team All-PSAC honors for the women were Erin Bartsch and Beth Fulton, while Jenn Esposito and Katie Kochera earned second team honors.

Erin posted a record of 15-5 in singles and 16-8 in doubles play.

Beth, a transfer from Virginia Tech, was 16-7 for the year playing mainly at number two singles. In doubles play, she was 17-7.

Jenn, a senior, ended her career by going 17-8 for the year, playing mainly at number four singles. In doubles play, she posted a record of 17-8.

Katie, a junior, posted a singles record of 13-8 at number three singles. In doubles play, she was 15-8 overall.

The men's team posted a mark of 9-6 for the year.

Alex Kalezic and Kris Shumway earned first team All-PSAC honors, while Jay Nistad and Floris Vogel were named second team. Alex was also named the PSAC Men's Rookie of the Year.

For the men, Alex was named All-PSAC and the Rookie of the Year despite recording a mark of 5-11 for the year playing mainly at number one singles. In doubles play, he was 10-9 with most of his matches coming at number one.

A sophomore, Kris was 15-6 for the Huskies this season playing at number two singles. He was 10-9 in doubles play and is a former PSAC Rookie of the Year.

Jay, a senior, was 12-9 with most of his matches coming at number four singles. In doubles competition, he was 6-9 playing at number two doubles.

Floris, a freshman, led the team in wins with a 20-5 record. In doubles play, he was 15-8 overall.

Track

Both men's and women's track teams struggled with a number of runners out during much of the year, although a few individual performances did standout for the Huskies.

Senior Kim Gasper finished first (19:52.05) in the 5,000-meter race at the Captain's Classic Meet at Christopher Newport University. She was third in the 3,000-meter race at the PSAC Tri-Meet in 11:29.14 and fifth in the 10,000 meter race (40:14.64) at the Susquehanna Invitational. Kim was also a top performer in the fall for the Bloomsburg women's cross country team.

For the men, sophomore Matt Zappile took home a first in the 3,000-meter race at the Lock Haven tri-meet in a time of 9:25.6. Matt won the race by more than five seconds.

Trophy races

Bloomsburg finished fifth in the race for the Dixon Trophy for the 2000-01 sports season. The Huskies totaled 109 points for the year. Lock Haven won the trophy, its first ever, with 117.5 points. Shippensburg was second with 112.5 points, while Kutztown was third with 111.5.

The Dixon Trophy is named for F. Eugene Dixon Jr., former chairman of the Board of Governors of the State System of Higher Education.

Bloomsburg and Shippensburg are the only two schools to finish in the top five each year the Dixon trophy has been awarded.

In the Sears Cup Trophy race the Huskies finished 13th in Division II with 391 points. UC Davis won the award with 703 points.

A Center for Service

On May 5, 2001, Bloomsburg University officials honored the university's past and moved toward its future during ceremonies to dedicate the newly completed $4 million Student Services Center building, formerly the old Andruss Library.

The Student Services Center dedication ceremony began with a welcome from Bloomsburg University President Jessica S. Kozloff, followed by remarks from Council of Trustees Vice Chair A. William Kelly '71, Executive Director of the Bloomsburg University Foundation Anthony Ianiero '97(H), Campaign Steering Committee Chair Barbara B. Hudock '75, Community Government Association President Dave Colan '02, and Student Life Vice President Preston Herring.

"The completion of this facility brings together, for the first time, virtually all area centers and programs for student services, which had been scattered at various locations throughout campus," says President Jessica Kozloff. "Catering to many aspects of a student's experience, the new center offers accessibility and convenience that will help ensure a positive and successful academic experience."

"What a better time to dedicate such a beautiful building that will service the current generation and many future generations," says Barbara B. Hudock '75 Campaign Steering Committee Chair. "We are indebted to those who have contributed so generously and in significant ways. Such support is the foundation for success."

Centered around a two story lobby, offices of various student services are now conveniently located in the new center.

Senior Class gift provides commuter student lounge

As a long standing tradition, graduating seniors contribute a gift to the university which becomes their legacy. This year, the Class of 2001 raised nearly $22,000 in pledges to benefit New Challenges, New Opportunities - The Campaign for Bloomsburg University.

Of the 175 seniors who participated, two outgoing seniors, Krista DiAngelus '01 and Eric Eichhorst '01, pledged to give $1,500 to the campaign they helped with for two years. That amount will allow them to have their names engraved on the donor wall located in the new Student Services Center.

DiAngelus and Eichhorst were dedicated student employees of the Bloomsburg University Foundation for four separate parent and alumni phonathon campaigns. They both played an instrumental part in raising funds for new Student Services Center.

"The couple wanted to have their names etched on the glass donor wall in the entrance of the new Student Services Center so their fond memories of Bloomsburg will live on forever," stated Eileen Evert, Coordinator of the Annual Fund.

The Class of 2001 gift program will fund the student commuter lounge in the Student Services Center.

University Foundation changes to fiscal year

At its December 2000 meeting, The Bloomsburg University Foundation Board of Directors took action to change its accounting basis from a calendar to a fiscal year. The change will be in keeping with both the university and the national organizations that report figures on voluntary giving to education.

A six month period, January 1 to June 30, 2001, served as the transition to the new fiscal year that began July 1, 2001.

Moving to the fiscal year necessitates changing the annual Maroon & Gold recognition of donors from summer to winter, as follows:

Date of Gift Recognition	Honor Roll
Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 2000	July 2001
Jan. 1 to June 30, 2001	January 2002
July 1 to June 30, 2002	January 2003

Note:
The 2000 Honor Roll lists donors who contributed a minimum of $100 to The Bloomsburg University Foundation between January 1 and December 31, 2000. We regret any omissions or inaccuracies.

PNC Financial Services Group, Northeast Pennsylvania, recently contributed $1,000 to Bloomsburg University's Celebrity Artist Series. In turn, the university gave PNC a commemorative clock in recognition of the bank's many years of continued support. Shown, from left, Dr. John S. Mulka '66, special assistant for university advancement; Lauren E. Allen, PNC vice president and corporate communications manager; and Michael E. Dennen '79 PNC vice president of corporate banking.

Thinking about a gift of stock to support Bloomsburg's mission?

The Bloomsburg University Foundation offers a number of resources to help alumni and friends decide on the right approach for giving. Information highlighting giving opportunities for gifts of stock is available. A staff of development professionals is available to answer questions over the phone, and, if so desired, to meet with interested persons individually. Please contact the Development Center for more information.

Below is a brief sample letter to accomplish a stock transfer.

2001 Alumni Phonathon Results

During the spring 2001 alumni phonathons, more than $161,000 was pledged by 2,803 donors to benefit the University. Eileen M. Evert, Coordinator of the Annual Fund, Krista DiAngelus '01 and Eric Eichhorst '01, student supervisors coordinated the on-campus program, which involved more than 45 student callers.

"Due to the dedication and enthusiasm of our student callers, many alumni made financial contributions which will make a difference in the education of current and future students at Bloomsburg University," stated Evert.

The monies raised during the phonathon campaign will benefit the new Student Services Center, Annual Fund, and Husky Club which supports scholarships for academically and athletically talented students.

Friends of the Bloomsburg Library plan five projects

by Robert Abbott and Charles Carlson

Since its inception in January of 1999, the Friends of the Bloomsburg University Library Association, (FOBULA), has made enormous progress. The goal of the FOBULA is to continually strive to provide additional valuable resources for study, research, teaching and community service at Bloomsburg University.

Membership

Membership in the FOBULA continues to grow from a handful to more than sixty-five members. Tell others about our work and encourage them to join the Friends.

Current Projects

The Friends have been working closely with the library staff and have adopted five projects that they have recommended. We are in the process of raising funds to complete these projects.

They are:

- Pennsylvania Census records. This collection on microfilm is good, but it is incomplete. In April, 2002 the 1930 census will be released and the library intends to add it to the collection. This collection will be brought up to date over time so that it will be one of the best in the country.
- Regional newspaper holdings on microfilm. Once again, the current holdings are incomplete. It is the intent of the library to complete this collection.
- Expand local history holdings. The acquisition of books, microfilms, and documents will be the goal of the library.
- Classical movies, DVD and CD collection expansion. As appropriate, this collection will be expanded.
- Listening and viewing equipment. Most libraries have equipment where students and others can go to listen to LP's, CD's, and view DVD's. The Bloomsburg University Library does not have this equipment. This equipment may be used by music students, language students, and others.

These are the five initial projects that the Friends have undertaken to assist the library. To date the FUBOLA had provided $1600 toward the microfilm newspaper project. The listening station request has also received support. Two individuals, who have an interest in music and the library, have agreed to provide $850 each to purchase these stations.

Programs and Activities

In the Fall of 2000, a very informative program entitled "The Physical Development of BU" from the Institute to Modern Campus, was presented by Robert Dunkelberger, University Archivist. In excess of one hundred attended the program. We are in the process of putting this presentation on video and/or CD. This process will require over a year to complete.

On April 29, 2001 a second major program was presented. It, too, was open to the public and was free of charge. Our guest was Professor Tony Mussen of King's College and producer of the Windsor Park Stories documentary seen on WVIA.

On March 25 and 26, 2001 our used book sale took place. Books were contributed to the Friends sale by members of the community, active and retired faculty and others. It was our first sale and it is our intent to have a used book sale each year. If you have books that you would like to contribute to the Friends for the next sale, get in touch with Pete Bohling.

Future Plans

Looking ahead to the Fall, we will continue our speaker program. In addition, it is our intention to inaugurate a classical film and radio series. A music series featuring a string and a brass ensemble, and a presentation on the opera are on the drawing board. A dinner sponsored by the Friends is being discussed.

Friends of the Bloomsburg Library held a book sale to support projects.

Anyone interested in joining FUBOLA, contributing books to the next used book sale, or financially supporting any of the five projects should communicate with one of the following by letter, telephone call, or email:

Professor Peter Bohling, Department of Economics, 570-389-4343, pbohling@husky.bloomu.edu

Robert Abbott, Academic Computing Center, 570-389-4209, rabbott@bloomu.edu

Charles Carlson, 372 East Main Street, Bloomsburg, PA, 17815, 570-784-4875, drchcarlson@aol.com

Picturing the Past

In the hope of stirring a few memories, the Maroon & Gold publishes old photos for alumni to ponder.

Bob Dunkelberger, university archivist, supplies us with the pictures from the past. In some cases, he is able to supply a bit of background information. At other times, information you supply will help complete archive records.

In our January 2002 issue, we will print alumni responses to the photo at the right and the one below, along with two new oldies.

The responses to the "Picturing the Past" photos from the January 2001 Maroon & Gold appear at the bottom of this page.

If you have information about our two new photos, contact Dor Remsen Sachetti '71, Fenstemaker Alumni House, Bloomsburg University, 400 East Second Street, Bloomsburg PA 17815 or dsachett@bloomu.edu.

The photo above began the Organizations section of the 1968 Obiter. Who are these students and which organizations do they represent?

Where are the students in the photo at the left sitting? Why are they there? Do you see anyone you know?

Do you have old photos you would like to share with alumni in "Picturing the Past"? Let us borrow them to scan, publish and return.

If you have photos or other memorabilia you would like to donate to the university archives, see the article on page 13.

Dancing the night away...

Under the two photos in the January 2001 Maroon & Gold, the cutlines read, "Dancing the night away...in two different decades." We meant in the two different photos but we actually received answers of two different decades for the photo at the top right!

Scott Righter '84 claims that the photo is from a 1983 dance marathon in old Centennial Gym. He thinks the two dancers in the foreground are Kerry Arnold (right) and Brian Karabin'84.

Linda Winkler-Perez '84 confirms Scott's identification of Kerry.

Rob Novelli '81 believes the photo is from a 1977 dance marathon. He thinks Joe Cioffi, who transferred to Temple, is just behind the couple in the foreground. "Joe's partner is the crazy gal in the cap at the right-hand edge of the photo busy getttin' down in one of her dance moves," says Rob. She is Doreen Richards, who transferred to Millersville. Rob, part of Jodo and Wecnie's "pit crew," says the pair completed the marathon (few did) and also won the Best Dancer prize.

Dance marathons were indeed held in both 1977 and 1983. In January 1977, a 50-hour event, billed as "the third annual," had 44 couples competing. The music was supplied by 16 bands and broadcast on WBSC and WHLM. Three couples and nine singles made it to the end. More than $6000 was raised for the Columbia County Heart Fund.

In February 1983, the Kchr Union Program Board sponsored a dance marathon. The event was also 50 hours and held in Centennial. Sixty of the 200 participants finished the contest. This time the event raised $12,000 for the Columbia-Montour Home Health Hospice Program.

The photo we ran looks similar to a photo in the 1983 Obiter. Dredging up memories can be fun and funny!

We also received two responses to the bottom photo.

Judith A. Wolf '62 says this was a Halloween dance in 1959. Judith is in the lower right corner dancing with Robert Liess '60. The photo is on page 15 or the 1960 Obiter.

Barbara Wainwright VanScoy '60 agrees that the photo is a Halloween dance in Husky Lounge (see related story on this campus hub on pages 62-63). Barbara says the tall dancer in the middle of the picture is one of the Stanitski twins, Carl '60 or Conrad '60. Joan Matchulat Powlus'60 is in the lower left corner engaged in conversation with a small group.

Husky Lounge

and 75 years of socializing at Bloomsburg University

Robert Dunkelberger
University Archivist

This summer marks the 30th anniversary of the demolition of Husky Lounge, the first true social and recreational area for students on campus, and a very fond memory for those here during the 14 years the lounge was in its prime. It was located on the current site of Kehr Union and attached to Waller Hall dormitory, now the site of Lycoming Hall.

Waller Hall was built in 1876, replacing the first campus dormitory destroyed by fire the year before. Waller would eventually contain the first social areas for Bloomsburg students when extensive remodeling in the mid-1920s placed a lobby at the main entrance as well as lounge areas on each of the upper floors. Waller's lobby lounge was furnished with comfortable chairs, sofas and writing desks; large tapestries decorated the walls. Intended as a place where students could relax, meet friends and visit with their families, it soon became a favorite campus meeting place.

The opening of Centennial Gymnasium in 1942 meant that the old gym, built in 1894 as an addition to the north side of Waller, could now be used for recreation and social activities. During World War II it served as a lounge area for both students and the cadets on campus for naval training.

After the war, the gym underwent several stages of renovation and became known as Waller Lounge. In the summer of 1947 the ceiling was lowered, the walls were paneled and the entire room was repainted and decorated The bleachers on the east side were removed and replaced with an elevated lounge. A canteen was added to sell popsicles, candy bars, ice cream, soda and potato chips. The lounge was becoming the most popular place on campus for relaxation between and after classes

Waller Lounge included an area for table tennis and was used for dances, but still had the look of a gym with its bleachers and wooden floor. The second phase of transformation in 1953 added a tile-covered cement floor throughout and a fireplace with a "conversation pit" at the north end.

The final renovations, completed in late 1955, replaced the west bleachers with an elevated mezzanine for the College Store, provided a new entrance from the main part of Waller and added a snack bar to the left of this doorway. The center of the room was furnished with booths and tables, while the elevated lounge on the east side boasted a 35-inch television.

In January 1956, President Harvey A. Andruss declared the facility the Husky Lounge.

One reason for Husky Lounge's great appeal was the snack bar's inexpensive fare. Hamburgers, hotdogs and sandwiches were 20¢ to 40¢; soda, juice, coffee and tea 10¢ to 20¢; and ice cream 15¢. A fairly nutritious meal could be had for as little as 50¢. Sales at the lounge rose steadily from $65,000 in 1961-62 to a high of $95,000 in 1966-67. The profits funded a number of student programs, including scholarships.

Husky Lounge was also the place for special campus events such as chess tournaments and dances. Ken Wilson, former faculty member in the Art Department, remembers chaperoning dances in Husky in the mid-1960s. He said he would sit in the elevated lounge area drinking coffee as students danced, not minding his presence.

Husky Lounge became so popular by 1964 that a decision was made to devote the entire area to recreation and refreshment. That summer the College Store moved out, and by November a whole line-up of vending machines went in its place to satisfy the hungry clientele. It was hoped this would alleviate traffic jams at the snack bar caused by an ever-greater number of students. A jukebox supplied the latest hits as background music and brought in an extra few hundred dollars a year in income.

The fall of 1967 saw no reduction in the popularity or crowded conditions of Husky Lounge. One writer for the student newspaper, the Maroon & Gold, remarked that the lounge, loved as it was, had all the peace and tranquility of Times Square on New Year's Eve. A second writer said that anyone who could make it through the crowd at the snack bar, get waited on, find a spot to eat somewhere and still be in one piece deserved a medal for Bravery and Endurance. The lounge was noisy and jammed with people most of the time, but it was intended for the students' pleasure and was the central meeting place on campus.

With enrollment quadrupled to more than 4300 students since 1956, Husky Lounge was no longer adequate. The completion of the William W. Scranton Commons in March 1970 allowed the old commons building to be remodeled to house a new lounge area with twice the space. This temporary student union was divided into a snack bar, multi-purpose area, television and games lounge, as well as an area for billiards and table tennis.

Husky Lounge was torn down in July 1971 and Kehr Union was built in its place. This 50,000 square foot facility included a snack bar and dining area, game room, formal lounge, and television and listening rooms. When it opened in 1973, the Union became the new student center and social area for all members of the college community.

In 1993, the Union was rededicated after lengthy construction that greatly enlarged it to include a ballroom, health center, more lounge space and a new snack bar. Kehr Union continues to serve in the same manner Husky Lounge first did 45 years ago, as a focus for campus activity and relaxation away from the classroom.

Husky Lounge may be gone but its spirit lives on.

Ed. Note: We hope this article has given all alumni a picture of this important center of campus life in the history of the university. We hope we have also blown the dust off the Husky Lounge memories of alumni of its era. If you were a student who remembers the Husky, send us a short write-up (photos welcomed, too!) of what you liked best. We'll share your recollections in the January 2002 issue. Send to: Dor Remsen Sachetti '71, Alumni Office, Bloomsburg University, 400 East Second Street, Bloomsburg PA 17815 or dsachett@bloomu.edu.*

In the 1960s, dances were a popular activity held in Husky Lounge.

Students on the upper deck look at something interesting, while those in the booths carry on with homework...or pinochle.

The College Book Store occupied one of the upper levels of the lounge until 1964. This area was later filled with vending machines.

The PA Individual College Chess Championship was held in the fireplace area in December 1963.

The Husky Lounge wing of Waller Hall was demolished July 7, 1971.

Alumni House addition construction

Construction began days after the ceremonial groundbreaking on May 6. The Alumni staff continues their work in makeshift office areas thoroughtout the house.

Several windows and a door were removed. The Great Room will be attached to the side of the house and extend back. The new entrance, reception area and restrooms will be added to the back of the house.

Lines were spray-painted and trenches for footer were dug.

The shape of the addition took place as the block foundation was layed.

Areas of the concrete pad were smoothed as others were poured.

Viewed from the front yard, the size of the Great Room can be seen. Workers pour the last corner of the concrete pad.

Karate master

George Bierman '77 is already celebrated for his champion karate victories. Lately, he has been distinguishing himself as an ambassador for the sport as well.

George recently returned from St. Petersburg, Russia, where he and eight fellow marital artists from the USA participated in the 6th International Martial Arts "Free Russia" Festival.

"Our main purpose for taking part was to foster world peace through athletics and help take karate to the Olympics," said the 5'11", 180-pound, Williamsport stockbroker.

Although the team would claim that medals were secondary to their real purpose in Russia, they took home twelve, half of them gold. Master George Bierman won three of the gold and one bronze.

The festival included more than 160 events in weapons, forms, fighting and weapons fighting, as well as self-defense and breaking demonstrations. More than 2600 martial artists from 39 countries competed at the former Czars Hippodrome, now a sports complex. The three-day event is the largest international martial arts tournament in the world.

When George and the team met at JFK airport, representatives from the World Karate Union greeted them with Olympic-style, blue jackets with their names and USA embroidered on the back.

When they got off the plane in Russia, International Martial Arts College president V. Nikolai Smirnov presented George with a poster featuring his likeness.

The voice of world brotherhood rang clear throughout the trip George said. It was an honor to participate and yet "they treated us like kings." The martial arts is an revered sport in Europe and Asia. "People could care less about Tiger Woods and Michael Jordan," George said.

The oldest participant in the tournament at 45, George faced men in their 20s. "A lot of any sport is mindset," he explained. "When I walk out there, I have to go with the attitude that I won't be beaten."

Owner of more than 1,000 career wins and 28 grand champion victories, George says he's now done everything he can do in the martial arts except go to the Olympics. He plans to step back now, going out on top, taking up the roles of spokesman and educator for the sport.

Earlier this year, George's outstanding contributions to the martial arts earned him induction into the hall of fame sponsored by Action Martial Arts Magazine and the world's largest, most prestigious awards program in the sport. In June, his fourth hall of fame honor was presented near Liverpool, New York. He was inducted along with martial arts greats such as David Caradine (Kung Fu TV series), Cynthia Rothrock, Don "The Dragon" Wilson, Vincent Lyn and Grandmaster Pan Qing Fu.

George was recently appointed to two karate boards, the International Martial Arts College (IMAC) and the World Karate Union (WKU). He is also scheduled to appear in a three-part marital arts documentary and will be included in a book, now in development, on the history of martial arts.

George lives in Montoursville and plans to marry in September.

Sisters create children's book

Mariellen Tini Sluko '87 and Ann Marie Tini '86, along with a third sister Mair Tini Luchetti, have created a book about some unusual animal friends.

Mariellen and Mair, both educators with expertise in the field of reading, are the authors of How Hilda Hushed Her Hiccups. Ann Marie, an Indiana University of Pennsylvania graduate who works in marketing for a physicians group, helped found Atori Publishing Inc. to publish the book.

Atori gets it's name from the requests of sister's nieces and nephews to "read a 'tory."

The rhythmic, rhyming story of Hilda the hiccuping hyena helps children in phonics and reading comprehension. When the sisters started working on the book idea several years ago, they chose consonant sounds because they felt there were a number of good books on vowel sounds already. They developed a concept they call a "letter-sound listen and retell adventure."

Their book features unique extras including facts about real hyenas, retelling thumbnail pictures and a 16-minute compact disc featuring two songs as well as the story read by actors.

How Hilda Hushed Her Hiccups was honored with a Benjamin Franklin Award at a ceremony at the Chicago Hilton on May 31.

Mariellen is an elementary school principal in Tunkhannock with more then ten years experience as a second grade teacher. Mair, award-winning poet and certified reading specialist, teaches kindergarten at Pocono Mountain. All three sisters earned master's degrees in education from the University of Scranton.

Tested on Mair's kindergarteners and Mariellen's three children, How Hilda Hushed Her Hiccups is the first in a series of consonant books. The sisters expect the next book in the series, Finny Finds Friends in the Forest, to be available in the fall.

2001 Hall of Fame inductees announced

The 20th Bloomsburg University Athletic Hall of Fame class will be inducted Friday, October 19 during Homecoming Weekend. The induction of five graduates will bring to 88 the number of members in the Bloomsburg Athletic Hall of Fame.

Football standout Stan Kucharski '68, men's tennis star Jim Hollister '78, women's basketball great Theresa Lorenzi '89, wrestling great Dave Morgan '89 and softball star Cindy Slocum '90 will earn the university's highest honor based on their contributions to Bloomsburg athletics.

Stan Kucharski '68

Jim Hollister '78

Theresa Lorenzi '89 (from 1989 Obiter)

Stan Kucharski '68 was a three-year member of the football team at Bloomsburg. A versatile player, Stan saw time as a wide receiver, halfback, fullback and middle linebacker for the Huskies and served as tri-captain during both his junior and senior years. As a senior, he was leading the nation in pass receptions (28), receiving yards (485), touchdowns (10) and scoring (64) before suffering a season-ending knee injury in the fourth week of the year. Stan finished his career with 66 receptions for 1,205 yards and 21 touchdowns.

He was named All-PSAC honorable mention at offensive end in both 1966 and 1967, while earning second All-PSAC as a defensive back in 1967. He set a school record (since tied) with four touchdown receptions against Shippensburg in 1967.

Stan was named the winner of the Robert B. Redman trophy in 1967, as the Outstanding Senior Male athlete at Bloomsburg. He later signed three professional football contracts (Green Bay, Atlanta and Baltimore) before playing five years of minor league professional football in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

His coaching career has taken him from Princeton University, where he was an assistant freshman coach for four years, to eight seasons as coach and offensive co-coordinator of the semi-pro Scranton Eagles football team, where he helped lead the team to two national championships. He has also been the head football coach at Scranton Prep and Mid-Valley High Schools. Stan is currently a teacher and head coach at Wallenpaupack High School.

Jim Hollister '78 was a four-year standout for the men's tennis team and award-winning Sports Information Director for Bloomsburg.

As a tennis player, Jim was the first player ever to represent Bloomsburg at the NCAA national championships, while also winning two PSAC singles and one doubles title. At graduation, his career record of 95-40 was good for fifth on the school's all-time winning percentage list.

Jim also spent 15 years as Sports Information Director disseminating information on the school's 18 teams. He was honored 23 times for his publications, including eight "Best in the Nation" awards by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

He served as President of the Board of Directors of the Eastern College Athletic Conference Sports Information Directors Association (ECAC-SIDA) and the PSAC Sports Information Directors. He was honored in 1998 by ECAC-SIDA with the Irving T. Marsh Award for his contributions to the sports information profession.

Jim is now Director of Media Relations and Marketing at Bloomsburg University.

Theresa Lorenzi '89 is Bloomsburg University's all-time scoring leader in basketball with 2,173 career points.

A four-year starter, Theresa was also a four-time All-PSAC and All-ECAC selection. She led the country in scoring as a sophomore with an average of 25.9 points per game. She also helped the Huskies to four PSAC Eastern Division championships (two shared titles) and to a berth in the school's first-ever appearance in the NCAA championship tournament.

She finished her career eighth all-time in rebounding with a total of 675, eighth in blocked shots with 48 and seventh in steals with 210. Theresa still holds several individual Bloomsburg records including: all-time game-high points with 39, most points in a season with 648 (1986-87), points per game average in both a season (25.9 in 1986-87) and career (21.7), field goal percentage in both a season (54.4 in 1987-88) and career (52.7), and field goals in a single game (17 on 2 separate occasions), single season (287 in 1987-88) and career (975).

Dave Morgan '89 was a standout on the wrestling mat for the Huskies, finishing his career tied for the most victories in school history with 127. His overall record of 127-26-6 puts him fourth in school history with a winning percentage of .817.

Dave was a two-time All-American for the Huskies finishing third in 1987-88 and sixth in 1988-89 at 150 pounds. A four-time NCAA qualifier, he was a two-time Eastern Wrestling League and PSAC champion. He helped the Huskies to the 1988-89 PSAC championship.

After graduation, Dave coached for four years at East Stroudsburg University where he also earned a master's degree. During his tenure an assistant at East Stroudsburg he helped coach the team to a school-record 16 dual meet wins in 1993-94 as well as six NCAA qualifiers.

Dave Morgan '89

Cindy Slocum '90

In 1994, Dave moved to Malvern Prep School as an instructor in health and physical education as well as head wrestling coach. As coach, Dave has guided the team to an overall record of 85-40 and most recently the first league championship in school history. He has coached ten national Prep All-Americans and 12 Pennsylvania State Champions (PA Independent School Championships).

Last year Dave was honored by induction into the PIAA Southeast Regional Wrestling Hall of Fame.

In 157 games, she slugged ten homeruns and drove in 105 runs. She also had 26 doubles, eight triples and 257 total bases. As a senior in 1990, she set the then school records for runs scored in a season with 65 as well as at-bats in a season with 199. She was also a two-time captain for the Huskies.

Cindy, a three-time All-PSAC selection, was named first team All-America in 1990 and second team All-America in 1988 and 1989. Along with being strong on the field, she was also a standout in the classroom and earned Academic All-American honors as a senior. She was also selected to the 1990 NCAA Division II East Regional All-Tournament Team and helped lead Bloomsburg to a third place finish in the NCAA Division II Championships in that year.

Cindy was an assistant coach at Bloomsburg in 1991 helping guide the team to a second place finish at the NCAA championships. She is currently an assistant at College Misericordia where she has helped lead the team to four conference championships and two ECAC titles.

In other news, our Veterans Memorial Scholarship Fund could use a boost from alumni. We are still short of our goal of $18,500 to make the fund a self-sustaining award. To date, $13,254.91 has been received. Remember that donations to BU of $50 or more may be designated to a specific fund such as the Veterans scholarship. You support is still needed. Thanks for all you've done to date.

Our Veterans Memorial Scholarship recipient for 2001-2002 is Larissa R. Bench of Lehighton. We look forward to meeting her at the annual scholarship luncheon and awards ceremony this fall.
